Document Delivery

Ingenta's Document Delivery Services - purchase the content you need with an Ingenta Library Payment Account or on a pay-per-view basis

Today's researchers and information specialists want online access to the facts they need - as quickly as possible.

This is why Ingenta's Library Payment Accounts and pay-per-view options offer you affordable solutions that allow you to control your budget yet still allow your staff, customers, and patrons to access the most comprehensive collection of content online containing more than 16 million articles from 28,500 publications.

Ingenta's Library Payment Account allows you to provide the library, customers and patrons with access to the most comprehensive collection of content available for purchase online, but under terms you set and oversee. Your institution benefits in the following ways:

- Comprehensive collection of 16 million articles available for pay-per-view, and delivered electronically, or by fax or Ariel. Your patrons gain access to the articles they want, even when your institution does not have a subscription.
- Scalable service that allows you to limit funding access to just those within the library or a specific department, or to offer the service to the entire organization.
- Account options that suit your needs, and document delivery discounts available for large volume deposit accounts, ensure that you make the most of your budget.

- Create cost centers in order to bill back to departments or projects and plan and monitor your budget accordingly.
- Control and monitor your organization's online article purchases. Set limits on cost per article or per user per semester to control your expenditure. Use monthly user statistics reports to track your funds and plan for the future.
- Benefit from additional service features such as fund roll-over, which moves your end of year balance forward to start the next budget year.
